TO SOLITUDE. - By C. WEBBE.

Oh, Solitude! once cherished Solitude! (In happier days, when thought was not a pain) World-tired with weary heart, I come again To thy dumb hounts and wildernesses rude, Where, through the day, the sudden shadows brood, And hope to lose my rriefs, but hope in vain; For still my miseries a murde ous train, Follow, and in thy sanctuaries intrude.
Then serious counsellor and silent friend,
Oh, teach me, then -since I can neither fly,
Nor resolute stand, and foot by foot defend My vantage ground - these blood hounds to defy, That, hengry, hant my heart; teach me to hear

Correspondence of the Boston Morning Post. SLAVE TRADE IN CUBA.

The torture of their fangs, and martyr-line despair.

The slave-trade in Cuba is carried on to great extent and almost without concealment. Some houses of respectable standing are generally understood to be interested, though not ostensibly, in this traffic. The purpose of renderi in port they are anchored off shore, and may be easily recognized by their superior neatness and beauty. It is a melancholy reflection that the faultless craft, so gracefully resting upon the bosom of the sea, is at best but a whited stantly buying negroes to supply their vessels. These slaves are purchased for about $30 each, of the natives, who have either taken them prisoners, or whose slaves they have formerly been. Without doubt, also, many are brought off by treachery or violence by the whites themselves; for a set of more un crupulous wretches never lived than the crews of these slavers. They combine within themselves the characters of slave-dealers and pirates, and do not scruple to take from friend or foe whatever they may stand in need of. Indeed, it is an undisputable fact that these vessels frequently sail unprovided in a great degree, for their dreadful voyage, relying upon the plunder of other ves-els to supply their own deficiencies. On their return, they land their cargoes near their destined port, and emer, in ballast, from some fictitious place of departure. The negroes are driven to the city at night, in Dr B. T. PRESCOTT continues to perform all the necessary a state of great filthness, and perfectly naked, and are lodged at the slave market, in Havana, called the " Bar-Dr P. having obtained the latest and highly approved meth- ricudas." Here they are washed, their hair cut short, od of inserting the mineral or incorruptable Teeth on gold their bodies oiled, and then, each one being furnished with plate, so recently introduced in Paris, leets assured that he cannot fail to give a general and acknowledged satisfaction to a cap, blanket, and coarse shirt and pants, they are offered Persons requiring operations on the teeth will please call and see specimens at office, corner of Hanever and Portland houses, and the saves are sent into the country to supply European and American, wholesale and retail, on the most reasonable terms. Orders from the country promptly and the country promptly and the country promptly and the country by the country and depend the country by t the season and demand. After they have learnt the language and become acclimated, they will bring about $100 more. Great profits are made in this horrid traffic, when successful. A vessel brought into Havana six hundred and five slaves, at one time, the last winter, and her owners were said to have realized from $100,000 to $150,000 profits. The captain alone made $40,000 by the voyage. Such immense profits are, however, uncommon, and are only to be realized when the prices of produce are, as they were then, very high. When sugar and coffee bring large prices, negroes are in great demand; for the planters, h ving means to purchase, extend their old estates, or make

The government of Spain, and more especially the territorial government of Cuba, unquestionably favor this slave trade as much as possible. But the British philanthropists are constantly exerting themselves to destroy it. R. H. BLAKE,

The English government exterts treaty after treaty from imbecile Spain, all intended to end the slave trade. The latter power evades every treaty, and still the trade goes on, although the fastest cruisers in the Britsh navy are Also, first quality Roman and English Violin, Violince lo, Double Bass, and Guitar STRINGS; Clarionet and Basson continually on the alert to capture the vessels engaged in it. He has also on hand, and is constantly receiving the newest and most fashionable Piano Forte and Guitar MUS C. Instruction Books, for various instruments, Music Paper &c. &c.

R. H. B. continues to manufacture and import UMBREL LAS, PARASOLS and CANES of every description. He has the West-India ports, and the negroes are sold or bound now on hand a good variety, some of a very superior quality, both as to appearance and durability. The above are offered to service or "apprenticeship" for ten years, at the price for sale at as low prices as those of any other dealer in the of $100 each. Of this sum the capture receive £10 bounty for the capture, and the remainder goes into the Second hand Musical Instruments, Umbrellas, &c. taken in part payment for other goods. Umbrellas, Parasols, and Canes repaired. Colonial treasury, to be given to the apprentice, if alive, at the end of the period named. The purchaser is required to report every year the state of his apprentices. As a matter of course they all die or run away before the end of the ten years, and government pockets the $50, and asks no questions.

There is probably no place in this quarter of the globe where slavery is so firmly fixed as in Cuba. The great mass of the population are interested in its continuance, and without scruples as to their legal or moral right to hold slaves. The indolent habits of the whites, and the great wealth acquired by slave labor, render it extremely improbable that the Colonists will ever consent to emancipation, while the government at home are too well aware of der, from London. For sale by Day & Martio's Agent, at the Saloen and London Importing Warehouse, No 36 Cornhill, of West Indian slavery to put an end to it, except upon formerly Market street. The casks are variously assored to compalsion. England is doing all in her power to effect this, and it may be that she will obtain such entire control of Spain as to procure an edict abolishing slavery fluence will be felt in every family,-by the poor as well in Cuba. Should this occur, the Colonists will assoredly resist its execution, and they are abundantly able to sustain themselves against the whole power of unassisted Spain. England may make common cause with Spain, and then, perhaps, our own and other nations may become involved in the quarrel, and the result it is impossible to

BONTON NICHEWEN STORY.

MONDAY, JANUARY 16, 1887;

For the Boston Morning Post, Mr Greene:-I rejoice to see, from the paragraphs which have met my observation of late in the various papers, that the subject of the great Southern Exploring Exachition is beginning to her gurfalia the light its importance demands. It has been a matter of some surprise to me commencement of the measure, manifested the deepe t interest in its success, our own city, which has puch more at stake in those seas than either of her sisters, has exhibited a comparative apathy. In overlooking the lass f documents contained in Mr J. N. Reynol 's recent pollbut two from Roston. What can be the cause of this indifference? It is not too late, however, to redorm our credit; there are many books, instruments, &c., required for the use of the Expelition in our libraries and public institutions. Let us come forward, then, as our neighbors have done, and tender their loan, or sell them at a fair price to government. The offer will (I speak advisedly.) be accepted with thanks. Many of these things cannot be obtained elsewhere in this country, and to send for them o Europe, would cause a delay it is desirable to avoid. We should, beside, by this course, have the satisfaction of contributing our mite to the success of an undertaking, the results of which, it is confidently believed, will be without a parallel both in a commercial and scientific point

There have been various objections raised to the manper in which this measure has been got up. To most of these it is a sufficient reply, that its present organization s the result of matere deliberation with those most versed in the necessities of the case; and not merely of the wishes of any individual. No measure of his administration, perhaps, has received more of the President's personal attention than this. His far-sighted policy perceived at once the great bearings it would have upon our commercial relations, as well as the rack it would give us among the nations of Europe. He saw that it affordel a golden opportunity to wipe out the reproach so often cast in our teeth by those nations, that, while we were always ready to profit by their labors in the diffusion of knowledge, we added nought to the common stock ourselves. Consequently, his wish has been that everything connected with the expedition should be on an enlarged and liberal scale, worthy of the great people under whose auspices it was sent forth. No steps, it is believed, bave been taken which have not received his entire approbation, and those who know him are aware that it is not lightly bestowed.

To J. N. Reynolds, Fsq. the thanks of the community are in a great measure due, for having brought the matter so successfully before the public. No person can read the mass of evidence contained in his aldress, and the other documents in the publication previously allu 'ed to, without being strock with the immense labor its collection must have cost. I have understood from Mr R. himself, that it is by no means certain that he will accompany the but has kept himself at liberty, in order that, when urging any measure deemed of importance to the well bein of it, he might not be supposed to act fro a motives of self-interest. His non-accompanying this Expedition would be a cause for much regret among all his friends, certainly no person in the country has more, (if any have equal,) claims to the highest place among the civilians, who are to form

I perceive that several of the papers speak very fluently of the Secretary of the Navy's opposition, hostility, &c. Though the matter is of but little consequence, I can rafeerson is a strong friend of the expedition, and feels the month, and some of the steps he has taken on his own responsibility, to which I am knowing, amply confirm it. His only objection has been an honest difference of opinion as to the scale on which it should proceed. He has feared that the zeal of its friends for making it a great unextended these remarks much farther than at first proposed, and will close, therefore, with the excuse that no one finds so much difficulty in cutting short "a long yarn" as

PUBLIC SENTIMENT-SURPLUS REVENUE. From the Fall Bry r Patriot,

Distributing the Surplus .- the method of distributing that portion of the surplus revenue, which belongs to this Commonwealth, will be an engressing topic of dis ussion, for our legislature the present session. That plan, which will the most succe-fully and directly secure it to the people, to whom it alone belongs, is the one which ought, by all means to be adopted, yet we apprehend, that the conflicting interests of individuals and of corporations are to be made to hear directly upon this important ques ti m. A party on the one hand avaricious for the spoils of Banking privileges, will eagerly contend for an appropriation for its advantage, on the other hand, the friends of the great Western Rail Road will strive to turn the carrent of popular feeling in favor of applying it to the execution of that object. Again, there will be a strong party in favor of distributing it to the towns according to their population, to be appropriated to the benefit of schools .-This, to our mind, is decidedly the best method of disposing of it. To all others which have been proposed there are strong and powerful objections. Give it to Banks, or Rail R ads, or to any other corp ration, and it benefits do not reach the whole people; but so dispose of it, that t shall contribute to the progress of education, and its inas the rich. We hope our Legislature will not long contend about the propriety of giving it to the towns, -for the disinterested and benevo ent mind, cannot, we think, evade the conviction, that by the adoption of this plan the "greatest good of the greatest number" would most assuredly be

The William Wirt -It appears, from another letter received at the office of the New Bedford Gazette from Peroamboco, that there were only two motineers on board of the schooner Widman Wirt-and they managed to fasten the remainder of the men below, and going into the cabin, stabbed the captain while asleep, and attacking the mate, whose w tch it was on deck, succeeded in killing and throwing him overboard. These two (one Spaniard and one Englishman) let the others come up, on condition that they would join them. They, however, watched their opportunity, and when the two mutineers were asleep that night, the steward killed the Spaniard with a broad-axe and threw him overboard. They then secured the Englishman and male for Pernambuco by the help of the navigator which they obtained from an English brig.

When the watch asked Duffee why Dorrety mauled him so entirely, he replied -. I don't know, except it was in fun." It was no doubt rare sport to be pounded to jelly in fun, and the person, who, being thus maltreated, could use such a moderate expression, ought to be held up as a marvellously civil-spoken gentleman. As the Charlies looked in his face, they hadn't the ace to complain against him for fighting, for he had paid a most dear penalty in blood for that offence; but for getting the drunk on, which led to the fight, he was fined $5,00, and costs.

Sullivan had only one black eye, upon which to claim the privilege of being fined $5,00, and costs.

A fire occurred in Camp street, in the block nearly opposite the American Theatre, on Sunday night at 9 o'clock which destroyed buildings Nos. 68, 70, 72, 74 and 76.

The printing offices of the Standard, occupying No. 72 and the Observer, in No. 70, were both entirely destroyed-a part of the materials being saved. Another fire occurred yesterday on the lower part of Common stree, which destroyed a whole block of buildings, principally small frame houses. A fire occurred also in St. Peter street, which consumed

In Helvia street a house took fire, the progress of which was immediately arrested, and circumstances attending it leave little doubt, it is said, that it was the work of an in-

From the Columbia Herald of January 3. Indian Hostilities .- Again the hostile Creeks have proke loose and committed depredations and murders. The plantation of Dr. Battle on Cowaga creek was beseiged by a party of Indians five or more in number, who fired upon and killed one white man and two negro men, at the same time burning the dwelling and out houses on the premises of Dr. B, But five indians were seen on the occasion, but there was reason to believe that a much grea er number were concealed in the swamp. It is not known whether these Indians were of those who still remained in Alabama waiting to be emigrated, or whether they were stragglers returning from Florida.

Tuck-e-batch i-had jo, with his body of Creeks, two or three thousand strong, has stopped above Pott's, it is said, and will go no farther until it suits him. He says he is west of the Mississippi, and there is no power to compel hin to proceed. A letter received yesterday from Apalachicola, dated the 20th ult., confirms the rumor of the destruction by fire of the steamer Reindeer, with 464 bales cotton, while lying at the depot.

Cause of Cold .- A wild wag of a tailor in Baltimore, thinks it must be mighty cold up in Abington; "for they have no thermometer there, and it just gets as cold as it pleases."

Early on Sunday morning last, the dwelling house and utbuildings, (except the barn) together with a shoeaker's shop belonging to Mr Joshua Dow, of Plaistow, N. H. were entirely consumed by fire, with nearly the whole of their contents.

B. F. F's object is to render this establishment permanent, not by the now current method of-so much per square edito ral puffs &c. &c. but rather that it should be based upon and owe its success to its own solid and intrinsic good qualities.— With this end in view he will be, if possible, stimulated to still greater exertion in the discharge of his duties, so as te render his school more and more deserving of public pairon. FOSTER'S PRACTICAL PENMANSHIP,

Is so simple and effective as to eradicate the most confirmed scrawl, and to substitute in its place a neat, rapid style of writing From twenty to thirty lessons will, in most cases, be found sufficient, where the pupil has already some command of pen; yet no definite time is fixed, and the learner is entitled to a seat in the school until satisfied with his im-

BOOK-KEEPING, BY SINGLE AND DOUBLE ENTRY is taught in a practical manner—the learner opens, posts and balances two complete sets of books, in which are combined all transactions which can possibly occur in the ordinary course of business. E ch pupil is taught individually, and not by general explanations which one out of ten might perhaps comprehend at he expense of the other nine. This is perhaps the only school in the city where the teacher combines in himself long practice in the counting house, joined to a close and applied study in the theory of this almost indispensable art. The decided advantages, therefore, which a practical Book keeper has in teaching, over the mere theo rist-who draws all his inferences from School Books alone-must be obvious to . II.

In ARITHMETIC he will continue himself (unless by request) to the most essential rules, and to those calculations which are of daily recurrence in affairs of business.

NEW ENGLAND CROWN GLASS.—The New England Crown Glass Company have recently erected a new furnace and are manufacturing an excellent article. The ness gives it an advantage over all thin glass, which is liable to crack from contraction in cold weather. Its surface not being polished after being blown, retains its enamel, brilliancy and hardness, and is not liable to the objection which applies to Plate Glass, of being easily and permanently bedimmed by

The New England Crown Glass being purer in color than any other Glass, is preferable for Stores, as it does not tinge the rays of light as they pass through it, and therefore white goods particularly appear to advantage; and it is peculiarly useful for Factories, as some minutes of light may be gained morning and evening, in consequence of the absence of color in this glass. The price of second quality is reduced from the rates heretofore asked.

Those who wish to contract for this Glass are requested to specify New England Crown Glass. As much imposition has been practised by dealers in Glass, by deceptive marks on boxes and other artifices, any purchaser who may apprehend he has been imposed upon is invited by letter or personally to apply to the subscriber for any information he may wish to enable him to detect the deception. Orders sent to the undersigned, at Boston or East Cambridge, or to any at the Company's Selling Agents, will be promptly attended to Inquire of JNO. CLARK, at Merrimack Manufacturing Co'. Much has been said by interested individuals against Medicines that are advertised, but there is a very important observation to be made respecting by loss man's Balm of Gilend, that unless its operation was genile safe and efficacious, it could not have obtained the unexampled demand it has aganized.

demand it has acquired.
NERVOUS DEBILITY. "Without Health we can enjoy no Fortune; Honors, Riches, and all other advantages are useless."

This Cordial has been uncommonly successful with young people who have the appearance and air of old age, who are pale, effeminate, benumbed, stupid, and even imbedie; whose bodies are become bent, whose legs are no longer able to can bodies are become bent, whose legs are no longer able to an ry them, who have an utter distaste for every thing, and are totally incapacitated. Where the stomach is frequently disordered, the body is weakened; paleness, bodily deeny and emaciation succeed, and the eyes sink into the head. The virtues of Dr Loveman's Balm of Gileadure demonstrated, in cradicating the worst and most dangerous symptoms of nervous debility, and nothing has tended so much to establish the fame of this medicine, as its certain success in those complaints which strike their roots so deep in the constitution, and are so fatal to the happiness of mankind.

Dr Loveman's Balm of Gliend has risen in repute with every trial of its efficacy. Some, perhaps, unacquainted with its virtues, not having perused the Guide to Heslth, may be induced to ask what is the Balm of Gilend good for? What complaint doth it cure?—To answer this it will be necessary to "Hold the Mirror up to Nature."

Let those who are afflicted in the following manner reflect the course that produced such bayon upon the translation.

West Boston Foundry, foot of Vine st, Boston, will execute all orders for work in the line of building machinery, at short notice and in the best style—particular attention paid to Screw and Gear Cutting. All kinds of Screws, such as Paper Mill, Standing Press, Clothier's Press, and Bed Screws and Hold the Photo and the Cause that produced such havoc upon the "wholesome appeties and powers of life:"—disordered stomach, dry powers of life: "—disordered stomach, dry powers of life: "—disor
